

CRAZY DOMAINS AIMS TO GET MILLIONS ONLINE ACROSS ASIA PACIFIC

Introducing Sitebeat: the next generation website builder to launch and manage a website anytime, anywhere

Crazy Domains, Australia's leading online solutions provider, announces Sitebeat: the next generation website builder platform for small businesses and individuals who want to get their passion online.

The digital transformation is happening right here and right now. Today, more and more small businesses and entrepreneurs are realising if they're not online, they're invisible -- and to be successful it's vital to be online.

On a mission to empower and enable entrepreneurs and small businesses on their digital journey, Crazy Domains has spent over two years developing the game changing new platform, specifically designed and customised towards ease of use and simplicity.

Tailored to support busy small business owners, now anyone can launch their website or online shop in minutes, managing their digital presence from any device, anytime.

Building a website used to take either computer science degree, a hefty book on coding, or an expensive web designer. But no more – with Sitebeat now everyone can do it.

For those who want to take their business and passion online, Sitebeat is nothing short of sensational, empowering everyone to create a unique and impactful website in minutes.

Growing Asian Market

Asia is already the fastest-growing internet space in the world, with South-East Asia is experiencing high double-digit growth in all digital and social media segments. As the first choice for businesses and entrepreneurs to get online, Crazy Domains provides a tailored product and services suite, along with growing infrastructure in the region.

In the next 2 years, South East Asia is projected to grow 39% in volume of internet users coming online, and has already overtaken the USA with over 330 million total internet users.

With accessible, affordable products and key partnerships in the region, Crazy Domains aim to get millions of users online across the APAC region.

Mobile-first Design

Asia is tipped by Google to be a leader in mobile internet usage in 2018, mobile is the primary way of accessing the internet for users in the region – ahead of laptop or desktop computers.

This means websites have to be responsive or mobile-first in design, and users have to be able to be edit and design their sites from anywhere, using a mobile device.

Sitebeat's advanced mobile editor makes it hassle free to manage a professional website from any device.

Mark Evans, CEO, said:

"With Crazy Domains' growing member base in Asia, Sitebeat is specifically designed to support a mobile-first, savvy social media-centric user base. Sitebeat's Mobile Editor feature helps users make changes and updates to their websites from any device, wherever and whenever their website needs them.

"We know from our customers that most of them don't want to spend a lot of time setting up their website, dealing with web development agencies, losing control of their digital identity and assets and struggling to keep up with managing their site.

"We have developed Sitebeat to empower individuals and businesses, allowing them to focus on running their business, not on the boring, technical things. Whether you are an online retailer selling products or services online, or a traditionally offline business that wants to grow, Sitebeat is the one tool you need."

Excel at eCommerce

Creating powerful eCommerce stores has never been easier. Sitebeat users breeze through setting up product pages, managing orders, inventory, payments, and shipping – all through one platform. Sitebeat also enables businesses to list and sell their product on social media platforms, such as Facebook and Instagram, with one-click integration.

Many small businesses use marketplaces, such as Amazon Marketplaces or eBay to grow their online sales, and with that in mind we have developed a smooth integration to all key marketplaces.

Crazy Domains' Sitebeat allows both the casual and the experienced user to create unique and professional-quality websites and online shops, making use of industry-specific templates, pre-populated images and content.

Modular Support

Sitebeat combines the best in drag-and-drop technology with a truly revolutionary modular feature that lets users simply drop fully-built sections into their design.

Building a website has never been faster or more trouble free. Now business owners have more time to spend on running their businesses.
